1.2. The Subscribers wish, through this cooperation, to serve the common interests in what concerns the development of some research networks and academic exchanges.

Article 3: The experience exchange for doctoral researchers

The subscribers agree to the experience exchange between doctoral researchers within the limits of the bilateral agreement.

Article 4: Financial and organizational agreements

4.1. This academic agreement does not lead to any financial obligation for the Subscribers. All the expenses (journey, accommodation, food, medical insurance etc.) for each doctoral researcher from the University of Craiova will be supported by the sending institution.

4.2. The Subscribers will, previously to every exchange project, conclude an agreement between the sending faculties/departments and the recipient faculties/departments through which they will establish the length of the delegated researchers' staying period, the research field, and also all the necessary information for solving certain problems (accommodation, food, scholarship, insurance).

4.3. The Subscribers both guarantee the fact that they will use their influence in order that every academic mobility case is as favourable as possible from the financial point of view. Particularly, the Subscribers will make an effort to obtain funding and other benefits for the hosted doctoral researchers.

4.4. If there exists a possibility of financial or any other form of support from either of the Subscribers for the doctoral or scientific researchers, to the present agreement will be added an additional annex, in which limitations of the support granted will be specified.

Article 5: Final provisions

5.2. If there appear new elements which make possible the improve or diversification of the existing bilateral relations, the Subscribers will conclude additional acts to the present partnership agreement.
